

THEATRE

Trick Boxing

Sossy Productions in Association with Fringe Management

Dancing Danny David is no boxer, but still, he wins almost every fight. This is because his promoter rigs them all. But hey, this is the world of professional boxing in 1920s America – everybody cheats. Two actors play a host of characters to tell the story of young Daniel Danielovic in this punchy and highly amusing short play. What makes it such a joy to watch are the exceptionally sharp performances from Brian Sosteck and Megan McClellan. Sosteck is a stylish performer with a real knack for comic characterisation and McClellan also impresses as the sexy Bella, but both performers really come into their own with their smart and extremely well choreographed dance numbers. It's a silly play, but it provides for a hugely enjoyable fifty minutes.

Gilded Balloon Teviot, 1-25 Aug, 3:30 pm (4:45 pm), prices vary, fpp 170.

[cjw]